65. The Committee notes with concern the lack of appropriate mechanisms to measure the impact of development cooperation efforts on persons with disabilities and the lack of information about the effective involvement of organizations of persons with disabilities, in particular organizations of women with disabilities, as development cooperation partners.

66. The Committee recommends that organizations of persons with disabilities be effectively consulted and involved at all stages of the development and implementation of international cooperation plans, programmes and projects, including the Incheon strategy as the regional framework addressing the implementation of the Convention.

59. The Committee recommends that organizations of persons with disabilities be effectively consulted and involved at all stages of the development and implementation of international cooperation plans, programmes and projects.

Switzerland (2022)

61. The Committee notes with concern that strategies and programmes on international cooperation do not recognize the cross-cutting nature of disability, and are not developed in close consultation with and with active involvement of organizations of persons with disabilities in accordance with the Committee’s general comment No. 7 (2018).

62. The Committee recommends that the State party:

- (a) Adopt guidelines to ensure that all international cooperation programmes are disability-inclusive and harmonized with the Convention, and do not result in the segregation of persons with disabilities;

(b) Take measures to ensure that persons with disabilities, including women with disabilities, through their representative organizations, are closely consulted and actively involved in the design, development, monitoring and evaluation of strategies and programmes on international cooperation;
