

Global Disability Summit Fellowship

IDA's Capacity Building Unit

Application Package

A. Background

Position: GDS Fellowship Asia, IDA

Description of the Organization: The International Disability Alliance (IDA) was established in 1999 and is a network of eight global and, six regional organisations of persons with disabilities (DPOs). IDA advocates at the UN for a more inclusive global environment for persons with disabilities and their organisations. The Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD) is our touchstone. IDA is invested in ensuring that the 2030 Agenda and the Sustainable Development Goals are inclusive and in line with CRPD. IDA supports organisations of persons with disabilities worldwide to take part in UN and international human rights processes and use international accountability mechanisms. With member organisations globally, IDA represents the estimated one billion people worldwide with disabilities. This is the world's largest and most frequently overlooked marginalised group. More information is available on www.internationaldisabilityalliance.org.

About IDA Fellowship Programme: The IDA Fellowship Programme has a dual objective of providing support to IDA members' operational capacity to advance the rights of persons with disabilities and to build the capacities of individual disability activists as contributors to the disability rights movement. IDA fellowships provide a unique combination of opportunities for learning, mentorship, exposure to different policy, advocacy and monitoring processes, and contribution to initiatives aimed at advancing the rights of persons with disabilities in the Global South. Fellowships are mutually beneficial for the fellow and the hosting organisation.

Background on Fellowship

In 2018, the UK Department for International Development (DFID), along with the International Disability Alliance (IDA) and the Government of Kenya, hosted the first Global Disability Summit, which was preceded by a Civil Society Forum. The Global Disability Summit (GDS) 2018 represented a keystone momentum placing the disability movement upfront in the disability inclusive development. Commitments towards the GDS recognize the importance of capacity building efforts and the unique nature of technical advice made by persons with disabilities and their representative organizations. This interest towards capacity building and technical responses span across governments, donors and development actors who have so far not often directly engaged with the disability movement and are now making requests for technical assistance.

Through this platform, one hundred and seventy-one (171) national governments, multilateral agencies, donors, foundations, private sector, and civil society organizations made nine hundred and sixty-eight (968) individual commitments anchored on seven (7) central themes of the GDS 2018. After this historical moment, the focus shifted to implementation and translation of the Commitments into tangible targets in line with government's priorities and development plans.

With the upcoming GDS, it is imperative to begin building awareness and to encourage reflection upon the various commitments made. In this process, the role of persons with disabilities and their representative organizations in these different phases is critical and in the spirit of the Charter of Change, persons with disabilities must be at the front and centre of the change.

GDS Secretariat

The GDS Team, under the management of the GDS Senior Manager, has been preparing for GDS 2022, monitoring progress of ongoing commitments, and ensuring that accountability mechanisms are in place to incentivise genuine and sustained progress. The GDS Secretariat is guided by and accounting to the GDS co-hosts for strategic orientations and linking with Technical Advisory Groups as well as a broader circle called the 'Partnership Forum'. The Civil Society Reference Group is now actively meeting once a month to discuss themes for the upcoming summit. The 2022 Summit has now been confirmed to take place virtually between 15-17 February.

Furthermore, from October 2020 to April 2021, 27 National and 1 regional consultation have taken place across the Global South, supported by IDA members and allies, which fostered the consultative aim of the GDS, bringing the concerns and experiences of OPDs from grassroots to evaluate the progress of commitments in their countries.

Also, for the first time, the GDS will comprise an entire day of discussions on youth with disabilities. The aim of the Youth Disability Summit is to raise ideas and concerns of the estimated 200 million youth with disabilities worldwide. This day will be held virtually on February 14th, 2022.

The Global Youth Summit will draw attention to the topics that are particularly important for youth with disabilities such as inclusive education, deinstitutionalization, access to employment, climate change, new technologies, among others. It will also accelerate the involvement of youth with disabilities in the implementation of the CRPD and the Sustainable Development Goals by raising awareness on the importance of their active participation in policy making towards government representatives and other stakeholders. It can ideally deliver real and lasting change in the lives of youth with disabilities around the world, with new strong commitments to also recover from the pandemic.
